Who We Are

Self-Help International is a proudly Iowa-based and highly effective international development organization that has been dedicated to alleviating hunger by helping people help themselves since 1959. Self-Help International serves families in rural villages in Ghana, West Africa and Nicaragua, Central America. Self-Help International isn't a relief organization - its focus is on giving a "hand up" rather than a "hand out" to help people improve their quality of life with dignity.

Self-Help International's events draw people from across Central Iowa and bring together some of the area's most experienced professionals in fields as diverse as agriculture, education, retail, and finance.

Improving Lives With Dignity

Self-Help International focuses on bettering livelihoods by:

- TEACHING RURAL FARMERS better agricultural practices to improve crop yields and help them grow more nutritious food.
- EMPOWERING WOMEN by providing business training and micro-credit loans so they can reinvest their income in their families.
- IMPROVING NUTRITION by promoting school feeding programs and by sharing information on maternal-infant nutrition with new and expecting mothers.
- EDUCATING GIRLS with Teen Girls Club focused on keeping girls in school.
- IMPROVING HEALTH through clean water and sanitation programs.

Self-Help International also works to inform Iowa about global poverty and hunger by doing educational outreach to religious institutions and schools.

They recognize the value of financial literacy and access to banking services, invest their time and resources in charitable causes, leisure and travel, and prefer to frequent businesses they perceive as giving back to our community.
